Summary/Objective Statement

My name is Daniel Husain, and I'm currently a first year undergraduate student at Oregon State University seeking a bachelors of science in Data Science in the honors program. My data science related interests are mainly health/healthcare and A.I development, although I think that data science in a sports context could also be interesting. Right now, I bring dedication and a person who's a fast learner to the field, and I'm also self studying Python and R.
